To Whom It May Concern,
I took great offense to your last issue's piece Hot or Not: First Responders Edition. The soot and asbestos-covered fireman in picture #3 is clearly not hot.

OAF Publishers,

Please stop leaving issues of your magazine at my home. I have changed the locks 3 times and yet every day I come home to more zines. I can barely open the door for all the zines stacked like mocking cordwood. I have purchased a gun and I will not hesitate to use it.

Oaf Forum,

Dear Oaf Forum,

I never thought it would happen to me, but then it did. That's right - I got my dick stuck in the toaster again.

5 Signs You Have Undiagnosed ADHD

Shouts and Murmurs

1. In the army you were recruited to a secret program at a CIA black site.

2. They treated you like an animal, and that's what you became.

3. You know they were training you to kill, but kill who? There's still so much you don't remember.

4. Memories and nightmares are indistinguishable now.

5. You're always losing your car keys.

Everything only gets worse

Cleaning up before my annual Eyes Wide Shut party is fine, but cleaning up after is another story.

My human chess set has recently unionized, and I'm worried my human backgammon set is starting to get ideas.

The monuments to my own largesse that I erected have failed to fill a deeper yearning within. Fortunately, construction on a series of cooler monuments begins next Spring.

Tribulations like these often make me wish my great, great grandfather had never invented Harvard.

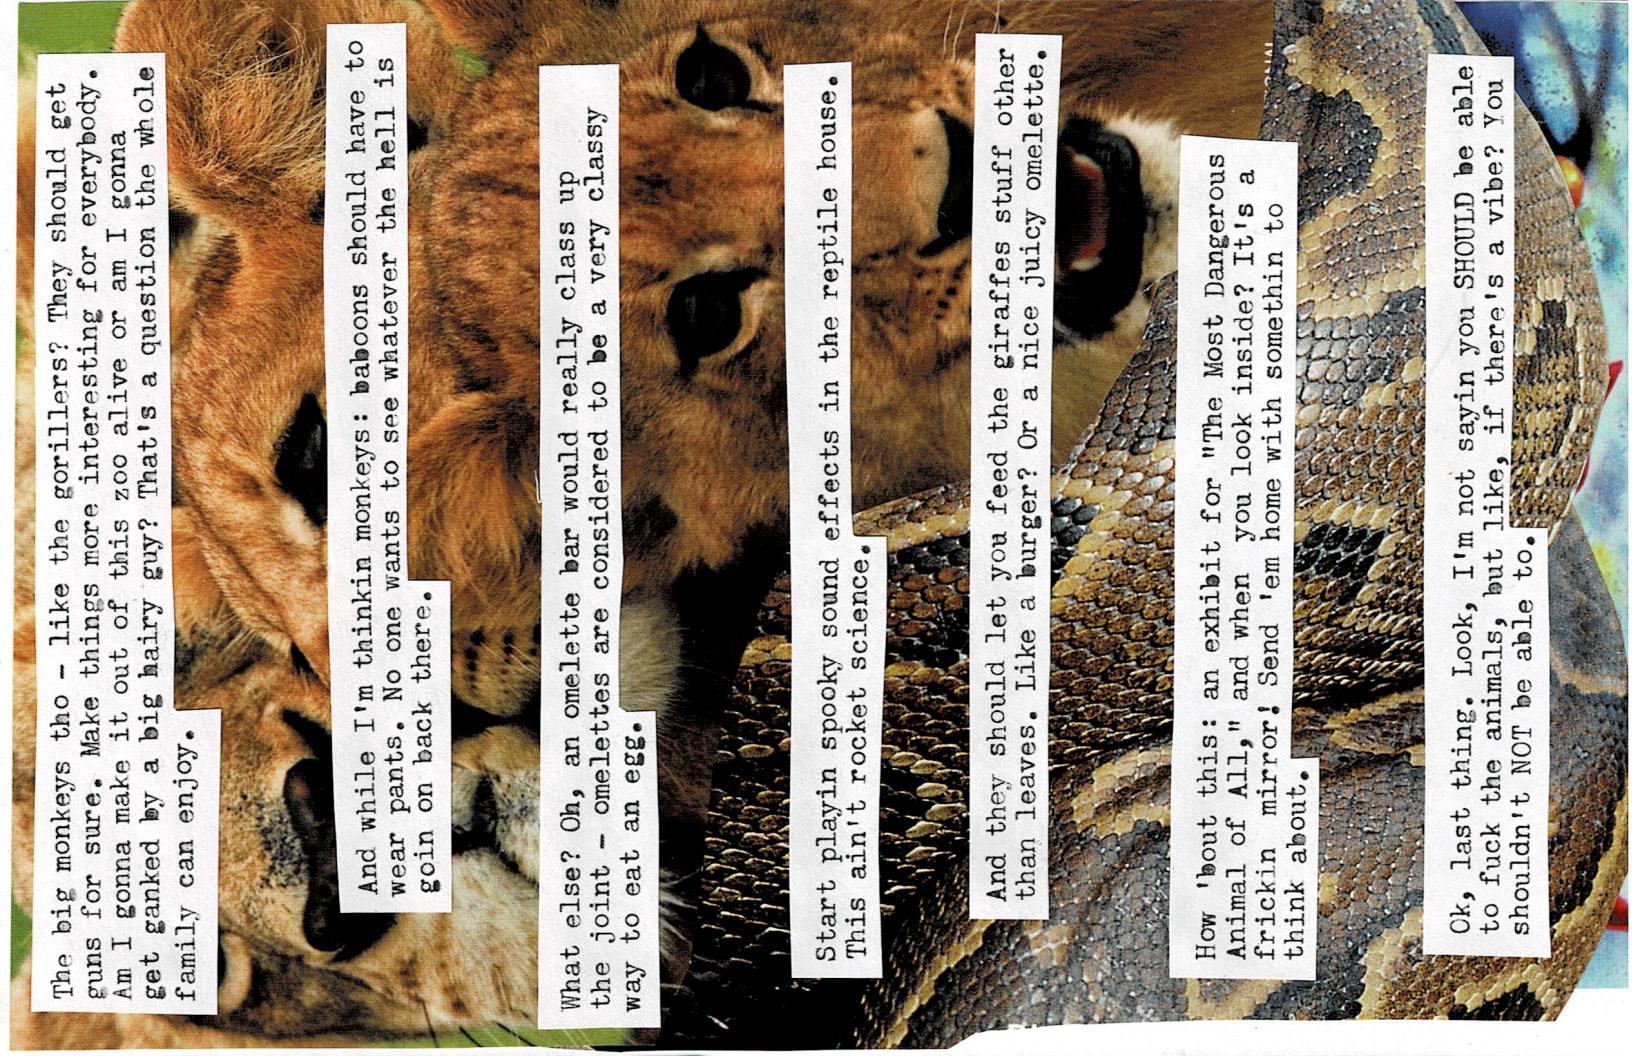

Boy lemme tell ya. If I ran the zoo? Things would be goin down real different.

I was just over there and I wanted to see the tigers and the zookeeper told me they were sleepin. Buddy, my taxes paid for these tigers - lets see some action.

Which reminds me - those signs that say "Do Not Tap On Glass"? Get rid of 'em. That oughta spice things up a little.

Also, day one we're lettin all the birds go - birds are a low value animal. No one wants to see those guys. Whole families are power walkin past 'em. Toddlers and everything.

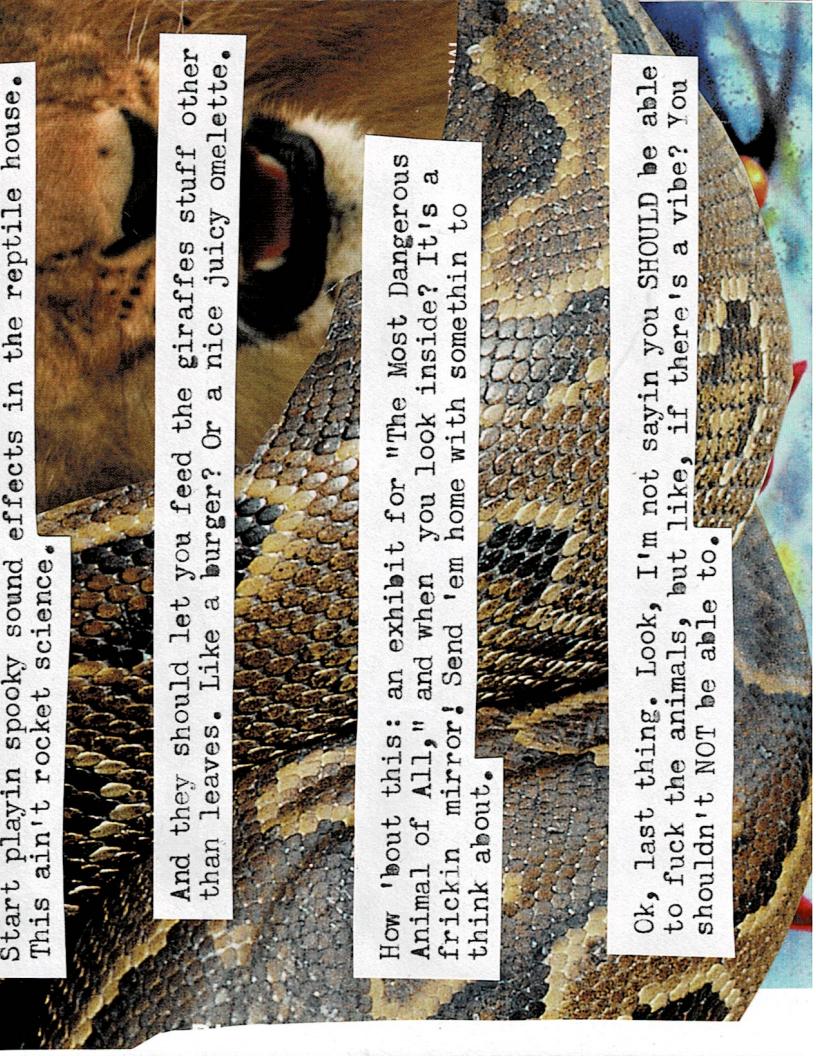

Now Monkeys - those are just little guys. I say get 'em some uniforms and put 'em to work. You can probably pay 'em in bananas.

The big monkeys tho - like the gorillers? They should get guns for sure. Make things more interesting for everybody. Am I gonna make it out of this zoo alive or am I gonna get ganked by a big hairy guy? That's a question the whole family can enjoy.

And while I'm thinkin monkeys: baboons should have to wear pants. No one wants to see whatever the hell is goin on back there.

What else? Oh, an omelette bar would really class up the joint - omelettes are considered to be a very classy way to eat an egg.

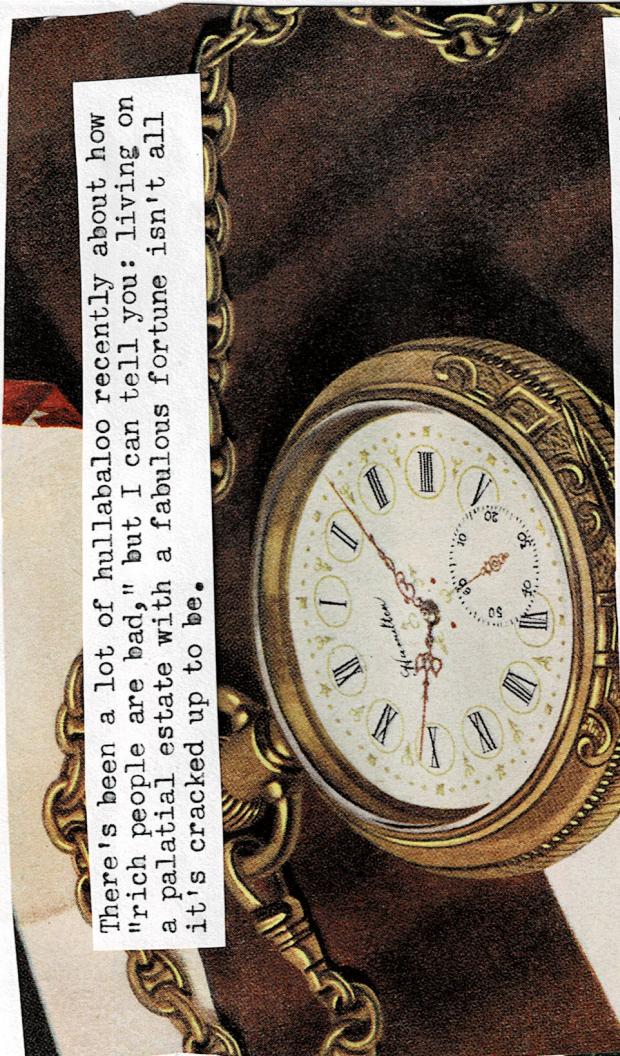

Start playin spooky sound effects in the reptile house. This ain't rocket science.

And they should let you feed the giraffes stuff other than leaves. Like a burger? Or a nice juicy omelette.

How 'bout this: an exhibit for "The Most Dangerous Animal of All," and when you look inside? It's a frickin mirror! Send 'em home with somethin to think about.

Ok, last thing. Look, I'm not sayin you SHOULD be able to fuck the animals, but like, if there's a vibe? You shouldn't NOT be able to.

There's been a lot of hullabaloo recently about how "rich people are bad," but I can tell you: living on a palatial estate with a fabulous fortune isn't all it's cracked up to be.

I get lost constantly, often for long stretches of time. After one month long boondoggle, I was forced to seal off the East Wing of my mansion entirely in order to prevent repeat incidents.

I recently hurt my neck diving into a pile of coins like Scrooge McDuck. The coins were quite solid and not porous, as the show Duck Tales had led me to believe.

My law suit against the McDuck estate is currently tied up in the courts (typical).

Caf Voter's Guide

Fill out as many bubbles as you can to boost your chances for correct guesses.

Don't let anyone copy your answers.

Slip a 20 in the ballot so they count your vote twice.

Only vote Yes on propositions with funny numbers like 69 or 80085.

Use the filled in bubbles to spell out cool stuff - like METALLICA.

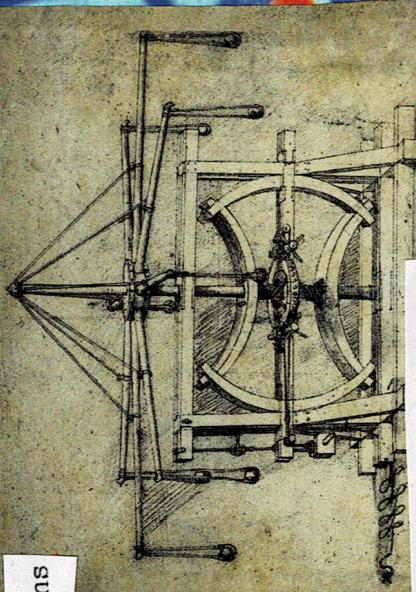

Unemployed? Write in your name for a comptroller race; you might get lucky.

Remember to give yourself enough time for the essay section at the end.

Guide to the Grind

Tear a dollar in half, take each half to a different bank and tell them a dog ate the other half. You just doubled your money!

Befriend a dying oil magnate, then charge your friends admission to come over and use his pool.

Leave your water running all day to enjoy the relaxing sounds of a babbling brook.

Start with a single paper clip and trade it for increasingly valuable items, then sell the story rights to a credulous development executive.

Remove unneeded stress from your life by being born rich.

Ask your mom for some money. If she says no, then ask your dad. If he says no you're gonna have to go uncle or equivalent. Do not ask a cousin - cousins are not to be trusted.

Stop limiting yourself with negative self talk, you fucking dipshit.

Visualize a meadow. Pretty nice, right?

Find a monkey's paw that grants you any wish... for a price! Wish to be the world's richest man and then successfully defeat the ironic twist of fate.

It's hard to tell which friends and family members are toxic, so you better cut them all off to be safe.

Start a comedy zine with a heavy collage aspect - wait actually, don't do that one. Forget you read this.

Self Care Tips

Your HOROSCOPE

Aries
You thought that everyone forgot that embarrassing thing you did in the 5th grade, but we didn't. We all remember. We call each other and laugh about it.

Taurus
If you see the coyote that speaks with the voice of a man, beware. He's trying to recruit you for Herbalife.

Gemini
Try pissing your pants today. You've let the MAN tell you where and how to piss for too long.

Cancer
They say a penny saved is a penny earned, but what does a penny buy these days? Try whipping some pennies at the crows that keep stealing your lunch.

Leo
Call your mother, she misses you. Why don't you call your mother? After all she's done for you.

Virgo
You're going to get a BIG promotion at work. Oh, you don't have a job? The stars warned us about you. This is for all the Virgos EXCEPT you.

Libra

Check on those crows you trained to steal your friend's lunch. He's going to whip pennies at them.

Scorpio
March 13, 2029

Sagittarius

You didn't hide the bodies well enough. Go back and give it a second pass.

Capricorn

Have you seen that show Barry? It's pretty good, you should check it out. If you're not busy or whatever.

Aquarius

Today you will invent a previously undreamt of flavor of Mountain Dew, and the force of the revelation will drive you mad. Bummer.

Pisces

Man there are a lot of these. Just go back and read Gemini. That one's yours too.
