

...a most provocative perfume!

SUGGESTIONS FOR USE

Throw it away

Mop up those pesky spills and stains

Roll it up and snort pixie stix
for a BIG laugh

Put it on your book shelf so
John Waters will have sex with you

Take a whole stack of them and build yourself a little house

Print your own zine on top of this one

Toilet paper

Burn it for warmth in the post-apocalyptic wasteland that was once LA: the year... 20 freaking
20?????? (Editor's Note: whoa)

PRINT MEDIA... DEAD?

You might be asking yourself - "What is this thing in my hand? Some kind of garbage?" Not yet, my friend.

This, dear reader, is a zine, and only YOU get to decide when it becomes garbage.

Zine is short for "periodical magazine," which is like a blog that somebody printed out. A blog? Right, ok, imagine a forum that only one person posted on. They were... no we said "forum." You know, a message board? Ok, look: We'll make this simple: a zine is a really big tweet that no one reads.

But why start one now? Why not 15 years ago when they were relevant? Whoops, looks like we're out of space for this page. Gotta go.

FREE JOKE 2

To whoever took my wife, please - bring her back. I miss her.

For help, cut out
the dot and rub
it, saying, 'I can change my life'

Do this

Not this

Not this

Boy, this country sure is going to hell in a handbasket.

What with the "political correctness" and "child labor laws." How's my child supposed to support himself, huh?

And nobody respects the troops anymore. If there was a troop here right now, I'd give him a smooch right on the mouth. The way an Italian might; a kiss of respect.

I tell ya - the founding fathers got one thing right - you should shit in a little house that isn't a part of your main house.

FREE JOKE 3

A nun, a rabbi, and my wife walked into a bar. I miss her so much.
